Wired Home TLTN RJ45 Network/Telephone Line Splitter/Combiner Kit

NEW

- Allows both telephone and network signals to be sent over a single category cable
- Designed to expand existing network installations

Wired Home Tel/Net line splitters are the perfect way to maximize the signal capacity of your installed network. Only two of the four pairs on a category network cable are used for standard 10/100 Ethernet applications, allowing you to piggy back telephone signals onto the unused pair for a single cable run for both systems; especially useful for expanding existing network runs. Sold in pairs, the Tel/Net line splitters feature two RJ45 ports for system input/output on one side, and a single Cat 5e output/input plug on the other for connecting to a network jack. Note: Jack 1 is wired according to TIA/EIA-568 A and B standards and should be used for the network connection.
